What does Europe mean to you?

In Euroculture, we don't think of Europe as a fixed geographical or institutional entity. Instead, we critically explore how Europe is imagined, experienced, governed, and challenged in a global context — by citizens, communities, and institutions across borders.

Interdisciplinary approach that integrates history, political science, sociology, literature and culture

Global community of experts, students and alumni from 70+ countries

High employability across varied sectors

Global context
Reflect on Europe from a global perspective during a semester at one of our non-EU universities

Study at multiple universities within our network of 11 top-rated Higher Education Institutions around the world:

Göttingen, Germany
